

ABSTRACT

Human Sel-10 Polypeptides and Polynucleotides that Encode Them

5 The present invention provides isolated nucleic acid molecules comprising a polynucleotide encoding either of two alternative splice variants of human sel-10, one of which is expressed in hippocampal cells, and one of which is expressed in mammary cells. The invention also provides isolated sel-10 polypeptides and cell lines which express them in which A β processing is altered.